Are you the Mentor I am looking for?

Real life is immensely more complicated than even the best textbooks can relate. Therefore the SUPREME mentoring programme will match a student to a mentor. With the help of socially responsible citizens, students find their way in life, in their studies and in their career.

Research has shown that mentorship:

- Improves Leadership Competences
- Strengthens Corporate Social Responsibility
- Prepares Future Employees
- Creates Positive Corporate Image
- Is Personally Rewarding

“Tell me and I forget. Show me and I remember. Involve me and I understand.” S. Goodlad

Mentorship is a personal developmental relationship in which a more experienced and more knowledgeable person (mentor) helps to guide a less experienced and less knowledgeable person (mentee).

- a mentor does not have a parental role, but is a role model.
- a mentor is not a professional but a volunteer.

Mentoring is not a one way street. It is not intended to only create positive outcomes for adolescents. The principle of reciprocity applies: a mentor also learns from his mentee. Broaden your horizon and learn to see things from a different perspective.

The key advantage of mentoring for the industry are:

1. Improvement of leadership competences. Mentoring is a way for every professional to improve their coaching and leadership skills. Mentoring requires a willingness to share, listen and provide advice in a flexible relationship shaped by the needs of the mentee. Improve the economic value of your skill set, improve your Human Capital!

2. Corporate Social Responsibility. Mentoring is a way for companies to show corporate social responsibility. Involvement in the SUPREME mentoring programme is a way to give back to society.

3. Future Employees. Involvement in the SUPREME mentoring programme creates the opportunity to prepare future employees of the industry.

4. Corporate Image. Mentoring creates a positive image of your company amongst future employees, future customers and clients and thus creates commercial gain.

5. Personally Rewarding. The personal satisfaction of imparting wisdom and experience to others without requiring a huge time commitment.
Subscribe to the SUPREME mentoring program and find out for yourself how rewarding being a mentor can be.

How does it work?

Step 1: Intake. The SUPREME mentoring team will contact you for an intake interview where the mentoring program will be explained and expectations can be expressed. The Supreme mentoring team will also ask questions about your educational background and career.

Step 2: Connect to a mentor. Based on the intake form the SUPREME mentoring team will look for a suitable mentor-mentee match. Both from a personal perspective as well as from a career perspective. A good match is the key for a successful mentorship!

Step 3: First meeting with mentor. The SUPREME mentoring team will make an appointment with you and the mentee for an introduction. You will both express your goals and expectations. If a good match is made, you will make an appointment with the mentee for the first mentoring meeting.

Step 4: Let the mentoring begin! Now the actual mentoring process starts. With your mentee you discuss day-to-day experiences and you help the mentee to achieve his or her goals. You also determine practical issues like how often you want to meet, etc.
